

CHAPTER 07

Different Ecosystems

A.G. Tansley coined the term ecosystem.

Ecosystem:

It is a self-sustaining and self-regulating system. That is composed of both biotic and abiotic components.

Biotic component:

Living things in the ecosystem.

Abiotic:

Non-living components.

Interactions in ecosystem:

In an ecosystem, living organisms interact and form interactions with abiotic components.