

Introduction:

About the author: Steven Offinoski born on January 11, 1949 in Queen, New York, is an author and playwright from Connecticut. Most of his books are aimed at young readers. He has written well in excess of 100 books. He is also the author of African Americans in the Performing Arts (A to Z of African Americans). Two music-related books he wrote were The Golden Age of Rock Instrumentals and the Golden age of Novelty Songs.

About the text: The Computer Game is all about a quiz competition between a computer MT2 and Joan Robinson from Oak Street School. The host of the competition is Gary Lopez.

